

Become a mentor to STEM students!

Are you a graduate student or upperclassmen
in a STEM field?

Consider becoming a mentor to students who share your interests and field of study!

14%

freshman at the University of Tennessee never finish their first year of college.

YOU could be the influence that helps someone earn their degree and make the most of their college experience.

As a mentor, you would:

- Give professional development advice
- Help mentees make connections to people working in their field
- Provide insight into balancing studies, friends, and extracurriculars

Mentoring program brought to you by Pipeline: Vols for Women in STEM
